Simple 'like for like' retrofit solution that would work with existing suite of HydroTap Classics

Location: Guildford, Surrey

Client: Charles Russell Speechlys LLP

Sector: Professional services

Product: HydroTap Touch Free Wave

The brief

- Hygiene focused, communal drinking water solutions that will keep staff safe in the office
- Simple 'like for like' retrofit solution that would work with existing suite of HydroTap Classics

The solution

Facilities Supervisor, Hannah Bleach, arranged for the installation of five HydroTap Touch Free Waves - our new innovative solution that offers employees 100% touch-free access to the option of instant, filtered boiling, chilled and sparkling drinking water. Placed in the office's break-out areas and kitchens, Charles Russell Speechlys' new contactless HydroTaps dispense boiling and chilled drinking water when the clever infrared sensors are activated by users.

The results

"The new HydroTap means there is one less touch point to worry about, which is ideal both during the pandemic and in the future. The taps come with simple instructions and the response from our employees has been very positive, with feedback suggesting they are easy to operate. The touch free operation will help our colleagues feel safer as we begin to return to the office. Overall, we are very pleased with the product and have had a positive experience with Zip Water."
